PROBATION AND REVOCATION OF FIRE SERVICE INSTRUCTOR CERTIFICATION

1. The Bureau may place on probation any Fire Service Instructor whose students exhibit a lack of knowledge or skill in subject courses taught by such instructor, which shall be evidenced by a high student failure rate during participation in state administered examinations. A high student failure rate which comes to the attention of the Bureau will be analyzed to determine relationships between an individual instructor and his students' performance. If an instructor's students continue to exhibit high failure rates on state examinations in the subject matter taught by the instructor, a letter of concern will be provided to the instructor allowing an opportunity for explanation. In the absence of an explanation which accounts for the high student failure rate, the instructor will be placed on probation during which the instructor will be required to teach students at a level high enough to increase the pass rate.
2. The certification of a Fire Service Instructor shall be revoked if the instructor has issued or caused to be issued course credit or course completion for any person not qualified.
3. The certificate of a Fire Service Instructor may be revoked if the instructor violates any part of Chapter 633, F.S., or rule Chapter 69A-37, F.A.C.
